Cruise Ship Clothing: While aboard the cruise ship, casual attire is appropriate during the day. While in port, low-heeled, rubber-soled shoes are recommended while on deck. When at port comfortable walking shoes are suggested. Norwegian Cruise Lines offers Freestyle Cruising, allowing more freedom with evening attire. In the evening, resort casual is always appropriate. Resort casual can be defined as casual shirts, slacks, nice jeans, dresses, and skirts. For those of you that prefer to dress up at night, there will always be one restaurant designated "no jeans."

Currency: The unit of currency in Argentina is the Argentine Peso and in Chile is the Chilean Peso. Currency exchange rates fluctuate on a daily basis. A helpful website for referencing current rates is www.oanda.com.

Electrical Current: The electric current in Argentina and Chile is 220 volts, 50 cycles. Electric outlets and plugs are different from those in North America. An adapter is required to plug your device into an electrical socket. However, a voltage converter is only required if your device is not compatible with 220 volts. Check the voltage of any device that you are thinking of bringing. If the tag on your device lists 110-220 volts then you will not need a converter. Adapters and converters are available at luggage, department, and electronics stores. Aboard ship, there are US-style outlets in the staterooms.

Gratuities Aboard Ship: It is the practice of Norwegian Cruise Lines to add your Cabin Steward and Dining Staff gratuities to your shipboard account at a rate of $16.00* per person, per day. Should the service received either exceed or not meet your expectations, you may request to adjust this amount at the end of your cruise. Gratuities for purchased beverages are not included in this daily charge. A 20%* gratuity is automatically added to any beverage service, specialty dining, and spa/salon services so it is not necessary to leave an additional tip unless you are so inclined.

*Amount subject to change at any time per cruise line discretion.
